

SAVINGS MAZE

Teaching children about money when they're young helps them understand how it works. Many parents wonder how they can teach kids about money. As part of Great Midwest Bank's Financial Education For Kids series, we've created this maze activity to show them how to save their money with a piggy bank.

Tips on how to teach saving habits at ages 6-7

Kids at this age are curious about money and collecting coins. Encourage them to start saving those coins in a piggy bank.

- Have your child pick out a piggy bank or other container for their money
- Set a goal, such as a new toy, for them to save towards
- Every time your child adds money to the piggy bank, help them count it
- When they reach their goal amount, go to the store with your child and help them purchase the toy with the money they saved

SAVINGS MAZE

Start at the pile of coins at the top and work your way through the maze to deposit the coins into the piggy bank at the bottom.
